GEO. B. HARPER, Supt.

Write for THE HERALD.] THE PROGRESS OF HAZEL GREEN.

BY ALICE AMYX.

A few short years ago, my friends, as you remember well,

We had no churches towering high With sweet-toned gladness bell;

No college graced our mountain town With gleaming spire so grand;

By our small feeble band.

Our school house was a small affair, As many teachers were,

Our children there could not attain A thorough training here.

Our people there would not believe That country and will

Could teach our mountain homes around With more improvements still.

But through the gloom there burst a ray Of sunshine, oh, so clear!

It pierced the hearts of dormant ones And cheering away their fear.

Then drop by drop we quaffed the draughts Of inspiration bright,

For well we knew a sleep profound Could not retain the light.

Then to our work we did resort Our hidden powers we tried

Our courage pushed the enterprise Which nothing dare obstruct.

And this our recompense will be For all that we have done,

A name that lives in memory green Endured to every one.

Our college is a grand display Of workmanship and skill,

Our teachers, too, with tireless hands Their many duties fill.

Our churchyard now is numbered three That decorate the town,

They stand as monuments to us Of glory and renown.

And to our springs great scores have come But can't exhaust the vein,

Its properties prolong the life And banishes all pain.

A handsome hotel marks the spot Where invalids in grief

Drink its waters clear and sweet, Which surely bring relief.

But ah, we'll not forget, I trow, To bless our truest friend,

If you would know our wealth unfound, Oh, for THE HERALD send.

In every line there gleams a gem Of literature so bright,

It gives the news both far and near— Yes, 'tis our beacon light.

Now we are on the road to fame, But shall we reach the goal?

If perseverance still prevails We'll slip up to the bowl.

Our barque is floating down the tide All clothed in silver sheen,

The brightest port to us on earth Is dear old Hazel Green.

TWO FACTIONS AT WAR.

Harlan and Bell County Fights.

(Louisville Commercial.)

More blood is flowing in Harlan and Bell counties. They have remained quiet longer than usual since the visit of Gen. Castleman last spring, and his threat to send the militia up there if they did not behave better.

Now, however, tardy rumors come of a slaughter in those blood-stained districts. Some days ago Jack Little, James Little, Jr., Sherman Farmer and Buell Farmer on one side, and Robert and Britain Hall on the other, met at Martin's Fork, near Harlan court-house, and engaged in a little battle in which Robert Hall was killed. The survivors were themselves up, and were taken to Mt. Pleasant for their examinations.

Later, Nathan H. Hall, uncle of Robert and Britain Hall, quarreled with the father of the Little boys, Simpson Little, and shots being exchanged, Hall was killed. All these parties were admitted to bail in the aggregate sum of $39,000.

The Turner and Howard factions are also said to be in arms. These gentlemen are old and well known warriors, their names having figured in many accounts of bloody fights in Harlan. There are now about 50 well armed men on each side, and they are preparing to put an eternal quietus on the feud by the destruction of one faction or the other.

On the 10th inst., young William Lane and a boy were passing along the road on Yellow creek, near Pineville, Bell county, when they were fired upon by parties in ambush. The first volley missed its mark, and Gordon Turner, one of the ambushers, stepping out from his place of concealment, was immediately and neatly shot dead by Mr. Lane, who was in turn artistically perforated with bullets by another volley from Turner's concealed friends. Lane's father was killed about 20 years ago, and it is said the man who killed him was present at the murder of his son. This man is Jack Turner, who, rich and popular, seems to enjoy a sort of autocratic privilege to deprive men of their lives whenever they happen to displease him in any way.

It is not yet known whether any of these parties have been apprehended.

Pineville, near which the present killing occurred, is the same peaceful little village in which any Johnson last May killed Josiah Hoskins, his little daughter, and another man as they were returning from church in a spring wagon. Johnson was hid behind a house, and when they came up stepped out and shot them down. This man was admitted to bail by the able and fearless judge of that circuit, and has not yet been brought to trial. If he is ever brought into court for final trial, he will probably either be acquitted or allowed to go free by continuances, which will eventually kill the case.

PERSONAL.

J. Miles Lyttle and wife visited Uncle Harry Little, on Gillmore, last week.

L. T. Chiles, of the firm of Chiles, Thompson & Co., Mt. Sterling, was in town last week.

Bob. Nunnally, representing the firm of Dunlap Bros. & Co., wholesale saddlery, was in town Monday.

John H. Evans, J. M. Kash, F. N. Day and W. J. Wallace, of this place, attended court at Campton Monday.

Miss Emma Kash, who is attending school at Frenchburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents at this place.

Mr. G. B. Swango has been presented with one of the handsomest Bibles we have ever seen. It was a gift from her husband.

Mrs. Rilda Harmon, of Butler, Mo., sends us a dollar for THE HERALD for this year, and wishes to be remembered to her friends here.

Sam Salter and Henry Cox, of West Liberty, students of Hazel Green academy, left Saturday night for a visit to home and friends.

Misses Lucinda and Lizzie Kash, of Frenchburg, were visiting friends and relatives in Hazel Green last week. They returned home Monday.

Rollin Kash, who is attending Campton high school, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents here. He reports about 90 scholars in attendance there.

Mrs. Mary Coulter, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. T. Caskey, and who has been confined to her bed for two or three weeks, we are glad to state is now much improved.

The opening article in the Southern Bivouac for March is by R. T. Durett, of Louisville. It is the first of a series of three, and the Kentucky resolutions of 1796 and 1799 Colonel Durett gives a short sketch of the political situation in 1796, in order to make clear the significance of these famous declarations, and follows this statement with a copy of the original paper as drafted by Mr. Jefferson, and to show the changes made in this draft by Mr. Breckinridge, a facsimile of the copy adopted and promulgated by order of the Kentucky legislature. Accompanying these documents is a facsimile, slightly reduced, of a letter written by Thomas Jefferson to Mr. Breckinridge in 1827.

WOLFE COUNTY.

Campton, Feb. 27.—G. T. Center has made a valuable improvement to his mill at this place, by adding a first-class planer to it. M. V. Potts put up the planing machine and is operating it. Some of the mechanics saw the machinery at work this week, and they proposed to sell their tools at half price. Said they had no use for jack, smoothing and groove planes. Mr. Potts comes to this place well recommended, and is the right man in the right place. Mr. Center and Prof. Smalley, of Irons, Ohio, have entered into obligations to put up a carding machine at this place. What Taylor will do next we know not. We only know that he has done more to improve the town of Campton than any five men who have ever lived in the place.

In compliance with an act of the legislature incorporating a high school at Campton, the trustees met on the 26th inst., and elected the following officers: S. S. Combs, permanent chairman; J. C. Lykins, secretary, and G. T. Center, treasurer. The following committee was appointed to locate a site for the building: J. C. Lykins, C. C. Williams and A. J. Asbury. Said committee is to report their acts on the 6th day of March, 1886.

Miss Emma Elkins, of Lane, is taking music lessons under Mrs. Ella Hall. Miss Emma is progressing finely in the study of the science of music.

L. C. Wells was in town yesterday, representing the house of Wm. H. Fullerton, dealer in hats, caps, &c., Chillicothe, Ohio.

GILLMORE, Feb. 27.—No. "Garkey," "Uncle Remus" is not going to allow his niece to be imposed upon, so "Encore" had better look out. It seems that he is acting ground hog all the time, as he has not appeared before the public but once.

The commissioners chosen by James M. Ely, administrator of W. B. Ely, deceased, made an attempt to divide the land on the 26th, but did not give satisfaction. So it will have to be divided according to law.

Frank Vancleave accidentally split his foot very badly with an ax a few days ago, while working at some palings for James H. Vest. He seems to be doing very well and will soon be able to be out again.

James H. Vest and wife and son, David J. Vest, and Mrs. Angeline Ely, will go on a visit to Quicksand today, and will be absent several days.

Hog cholera has put in its appearance in this vicinity. J. H. Vest has some hogs sick.

Born—On the 17th inst., to the wife of James Wadkins, a son, Grover Cleveland.

George Hutton, who is sick, is still in bad condition.

If you want a good job of tin, copper or sheet-iron work, call on B. F. RIDDELL, Main street, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

MORGAN COUNTY.

WEST LIBERTY, Feb. 27.—Sam Salter and Henry Cox, of this place, who are attending Hazel Green academy, are in our midst. They are delighted with Hazel Green and its good people, also with the academy. And, judging from their conversation, were led to believe that they are stuck on a certain "Belle" of that place. Look out, girls.

The city school at this place, under the auspices of Prof. J. M. Downing, is progressing finely. Several students from a distance are attending. Among them we mention, Miss Dora Lacy, of White Oak, and Smith Allen, of Caney.

Elder D. G. Combs, of Ezel, filled his appointment at the Christian church, at this place, Saturday and Sunday. His text Saturday night was, "Buy the truth and sell it not." Prov. chap. 23, verse 23.

We are glad to hear of the marriage of Mr. Taylor, Wiley and Miss Fannie Trimble. May their lives be one of sunshine, and no shadow ever cross their pathway through the journey of life.

Leslie Swetnam, of Maytown, returned home Monday from a visit to this place. Leslie is quite a favorite with all our people, especially with our young folks and the "trundle-bed" society.

THE HERALD is a welcome visitor to your correspondent, and its arrival is hailed with great pleasure. "May its shadow never grow less, and may it live long and prosper."

John B. Phillips, Minnie Downing and Dora Phillips are very ill with pneumonia fever. Also Mrs. W. M. Kendall is very sick.

Born—To the wife of J. T. Carter, on the 14th inst., a girl. To the wife of F. M. Moore, on the 19th inst., a girl.

George Kelsey, engineer of Burns's mill, contemplates moving to Farmer's this week or next.

W. C. Kendall (Cousin Pomp) spent several days in Rowan last week, buying and selling timber.

W. W. McGuire and J. W. Kendall returned from a business trip to Morehead Monday.

Rev. J. R. Kendall, of Hazel Green, paid a flying visit to our town a few days ago.

Born—To the wife of Col. J. P. Salter, on the 18th inst., a girl. Howdy, "Uncle Sam."

Hon. J. W. Perry, of Owen county, paid our town a visit last week.

Miss Anna Kendall is visiting friends and relatives at Martinsburg.

The whooping cough is raging in West Liberty.

BREATHITT COUNTY.

JACKSON, Feb. 26.—The library of Jackson academy, which already numbers 500 volumes, is soon to have a valuable addition. Mrs. Sarah B. Cross, of Hampton college, Louisville, is collecting a large number of volumes at Wood Bros., 558 4th avenue, and as soon as 1,000 volumes are collected they will be shipped to this place.

The trustees of Jackson academy met yesterday and made a call for the payment of the first installment of the subscription for the building.

The Christmas presents, donated by the First Presbyterian church at Lexington, have arrived, and are being distributed by Bro. Cooper.

Rev. Sam H. Patrick has returned from Vaneburg, where he has been assisting Rev. W. L. Stamper in a protracted meeting.

S. H. Hurst, of Frozen creek, sold lately four head of feeding cattle to Goff Bros. for $115.

B. F. French, county attorney of Perry county, passed through town en route to Campton.

John E. Patrick has arrived home. He has been on a trip to Frankfort with timber.

Hiram Hogg, of Booneville, U. S. deputy collector, is in town.

David Williams, of Campton, was here this week buying furs.

Willie Spencer is yet very low, but is improving.

R. R. Smith is moving to Troublesome creek.

Drain pipe of all sizes and shapes can be found at B. F. RIDDELL'S, Main street, Mt. Sterling.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. Jane Combs was born six miles above Hazard court-house, in Perry county, Kentucky, November 25th, 1835. She was the daughter of Washington and Sallie Combs, who emigrated from Virginia at an early date. She was married to William Combs, the present jailer of Breathitt county, August 28th, 1851. The newly wedded pair immediately began housekeeping in Jackson, where the husband had located the previous year, and there they lived in happy union until February 15th, 1886, when death severed the bond that had so long bound them together. Her last illness was protracted through many weary months, during which she was not able to lie down day or night, her disease being of the heart, and a prostrate position produced a smothering sensation. But a more patient, uncomplaining sufferer never felt the power of affliction. Not a murmur escaped her lips. She was the mother of 10 children, nine of whom survive her; the other one, the wife of Rev. J. H. Hager, of the Missouri conference, having died almost 15 years before her mother. They all live in Breathitt county, except the wife of Mr. S. B. Smith, assessor of Wolfe county. Her virtues shone in all the relations of life. As a wife she was gentle, faithful and true. The solemn vow taken at the marriage altar, "I will love thee, serve thee, honor and keep thee, in sickness and in health, and forsaking all others to keep thee only unto him so long as they both shall live," was sacredly kept. "God bless your precious soul," I felt upon his ear from her dying lips. In her family government she was kind but firm. She endeavored to train her children to love and practice virtue. From their birth to her dying hour, she advised, reproved or rebuked, as occasion required, with all the tenderness and earnestness of a loving, paternal heart. Her children will carry her admonitions to their graves, and can never forget them. The only sad reflection she had in her last hours was the fear that some of her family might be lost. Her home was a hotel from the day she began housekeeping until death. This, with the rearing of a large family, made her life one of labor. Industry marked every hour of her existence. Her position as landlady gave her a very extensive acquaintance. She was perhaps more widely known than any other woman in the county. At her home a generous and bountiful hospitality was dispensed. Her friends were always welcome, while the hungry never went away unfed. She was received into the Methodist Church by Rev. V. B. Daugherty October 23rd, 1853, but for several years previous she had professed faith in Christ. Her death was a glorious christian triumph. "Perfect love had cast out all fear." Though light and shadow had been mingled in her life, in death all was brightness and glory. She was laid to rest in the family burying ground, there to wait the resurrection to glory, honor and immortality. Husband and children, let us meet her.

Insurance, in order to be reliable, must be guaranteed by successful and well-known corporations; the policies of doubtful or experimental companies being dear at any price. The best policies are always the cheapest. Insurers should select their companies as they would a banker, or a person who is to hold their funds in trust. Look to quality as the paramount consideration of insurance. Respectfully, A. HOFFMAN.

Swango Springs.

The Water of Life for Afflicted Humanity.

IRON IS KING.

These springs are located three-quarters of a mile from the beautiful town of Hazel Green. The water contains a larger percentage of iron than any other water known, hence it is the most valuable in the cure of disease—used internally or externally.

Among the many diseases which flesh is heir to, and for which this wonderful water is known to be a positive and permanent cure, are the following:

CONSTIPATION, DYSPEPSIA, SKIN DISEASES, SCROFULA, CATARRHS, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, NERVOUSNESS, &c.

We append a few of the hundreds of testimonials which have been tendered as to the efficacy of this water in disease.

One lady writes: "I am so thankful to the Great Giver of all Blessings that I tried Swango Springs. Freely do I give all the time and money spent there for the health and strength I now enjoy."

A gentleman of Illinois says: I think the water of Swango Springs did me more good than all the nostrums I have ever tried. I will certainly be with you again next spring."
